

Information about the exam in the subject Histology and Embryology 2

The Histology and Embryology Final Exam (from now on, HaE) will consist of a test, a practical exam (blind slide identification), and an oral exam. Therefore, it is necessary that the final exam is divided into two days. The date that the student registers in the AIS is the date of the oral part of the final exam. The day before the oral exam, there will be a test and a practical part consisting of blind identification of 10 unlabeled slides. If the examination date entered in the AIS is Tuesday to Friday, the test and practical part will take place the day before (Monday to Thursday). If the AIS examination dates are on Monday, the test and practical part will take place on Friday of the previous week.

1. The test contains 30 questions. The complete list of the questions is available on the HaE Institute website.
2. The list of practical part slides is published on the HaE Institute website.
3. If the student passes the test and the practical part of the exam, he/she may continue with the oral part one day later.

If the student is unsuccessful in the test or practical part of the exam, he/she must repeat them and register for another examination date in the AIS. If the student is unsuccessful in the oral part of the exam, he/she does not have to repeat the test or the practical examination if he/she retakes the oral part within the same academic year.

The time and place of the test and the practical part will always be updated – by information on the HaE Institute website and also in the MST. The Moodle tests will be written in PC rooms at Moskovska Street 2 (opposite the cafeteria), 1st floor, No. 111 or at Sasinkova Street - in the courtyard in the building of the Information Technology Centre opposite the Ladziansky Auditorium.

The practical exam will be held on the day of the test at Sasinkova street 4, Department of Histology and Embryology, 3rd floor, large practical room. The oral part of the examination will be held again at Sasinkova street 4, Department of Histology and Embryology, 3rd floor. Students are also requested to monitor the Institute of HaE website in the "Actualities" folder, as well as MST and email communication for possible changes in the starting times of the different parts of the exam and the place of the test, which will be communicated to them in due course.
